

Somerset Scenes

five pieces for violin & organ

I - Poem

*The path that winds between the plains
On either side appear to dance,
In shades of green, the fruit of grains
That spring had sown to so enhance
And warm, beneath the heights of blue
Ever increasing miles of land;
From hills behind and forward to The sea beyond the silver sand.*

Martin Stacey
b.1975

Gently ♩=52

III (8' flute) pp

cresc.

8

dim.

pp

15

mf

cresc.